My customers prescribe me to others for my ability and adaptability.

You state in your activity posting that you need a beautician who can likewise work low maintenance at the front counter. Having filled in as an assistant for a spa and a hair salon, I am entirely open to speaking with customers both on the telephone and face to face. The two customers and businesses have adulated my solid relational abilities, and I am sure I can carry those aptitudes to a situation at your salon.

Yours sincerely,
Rebecca Dolton
